

THE MONITOR

Greetings, Church!

It has been a long while since we put out a newsletter. With the weekly output of the bulletin, for a while, I wrote there. Then, as all things during Covid-time, that has waxed and waned.

As this time has afforded us many opportunities, and I may have written about this before, this bears repeating. Covid-time has moved us out of the sanctuary. Physically. We are not only about meeting there, in the comfort of our pews, with the known paintings and the melodies of the keyboards. We are not hemmed in by the colorful glass windows, keeping the world at bay and offering us stories and symbols to look at rather than seeing the starkness of the sky or the branches of the trees. We are not about only the altar, the candles, the hymnals and the paraments.

We are people who have moved into the fellowship hall.

Yup. Most of what happens in the church building these days happens in the fellowship hall. Coffee groups, student gatherings, book studies, hospital classes, Dala Pantry, high school graduation parties, VBS handouts, WELCA gatherings, council meetings are all taking place in the fellowship hall.

I kind of prefer this image, that the Church become a place of fellowship, of community engagement. It seems that perhaps this is the hope God offers to the world. The Trinity is the essence of relationship: messy, ever-in-need-of-balance, seeking to support through all things, loving, forgiving, welcoming into continual connection. This is the image of God the congregation, the Church, is to live into.

Our fellowship hall is a reflection of this. It is messy with tables in odd formation. The Dala Pantry has changed the shape of the room. There are empty boxes, ready for recycling. The floor has tape on it for socially distancing chairs when groups gather there. The space feels as if it is full of Spirit, even as it is not a place of worship, it is the place where the work of the Church is happening.

And our worship is outside. Out of the boundaries of normalcy, out of the solitude of the walls and the hiddenness of our space. I believe we need sanctuary. It also seems that the idea of sanctuary has cast us into a hidden way of worshipping, a sequestered, even segregated manner of being “this” congregation rather than “that” congregation.

Sanctuary is for respite, not identity.

The openness of the park, worshipping in nature, offers a way of being in community and praising God that moves our voices on the wind, into the trees, through the playground and across the sidewalks, a movement denied when we worship inside walls. God feels less constrained to me when I worship outside. God seems differently present as Pastor Chris and I walk through the people bearing the Body and Blood to meet people where they are.

Joining our worship with Bethany Lutheran has opened another manner of relationship. Pastor Chris and I have different leadership styles, different preaching voices, unique understandings of how to share the liturgy. No wonder congregations who share a call take years to meld their expectations and hopes: Pr. Chris and I must be intentional in our communications in order for there to be collegiality in our work. This is fellowship at its finest. This intentionality also creates sanctuary for us; a place wherein we can share our pastoral concerns, our hopes for our congregations, and our perceptions of the community as a whole.

This, Church, is our call as believers in Jesus Christ. We are called to be in fellowship beyond the sanctuary. In Ephesians 2, we read,

“you are no longer strangers and aliens, but you are citizens with the saints and also members of the household of God, <sup>20</sup>built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the cornerstone. <sup>21</sup>In him the whole structure is joined together and grows into a holy temple in the Lord; <sup>22</sup>in whom you also are built together spiritually into a dwelling place for God.”

The Church is the fellowship of people, all people, connected as bearers of the image of God to all the world. As believers in Christ, we are the sanctuary for the world when people come into fellowship with us in a parking lot, on the trail, at the grocery store or at the coffee shop, even in our own backyard. We are the Church, bearing the fellowship and community of Christ in our very beings. We offer the sanctuary of love and forgiveness and respite for the weary through our identity in Christ. Blessings be yours, Church. May you continue to grow in fellowship as you remain healthfully distant, covered with a mask of care for your neighbors, and open to worshipping God in wide open, unusual spaces.

~Yours in Christ, Pastor Amy

CHURCH NEWS

Messiah has committed to following the county guidelines for in-person worship, citing the County Health Department's guidelines of avoiding gatherings of more than 45 persons. We submitted a plan for safer worship practices in the park to the County and to the City of Lindsborg and were granted approval of our design. We have been blessed to gather in the park through September (with the exception of Sept 27 when the wind and rain forced us to record worship in the sanctuary!). We have reserved the shelter house through the end of October with the hopes that the county will be on a downward trend in Covid cases which would change the guidelines, allowing us to worship inside with safer practices in November. We have enjoyed attendance of 77, 75, and 49 in the park (ambient temperatures make a large difference in attendance!) and anticipate being warm enough to continue until November. Watch for updates on worship practices in your email and on facebook.

DALA PANTRY

The Dala Pantry is excited to let you know that we have helped over 130 families and purchased a total of 8,112 pounds of food from the Food Bank of Kansas (not including donations or outside purchases) since being open! We are so grateful for all of you that have donated, volunteered, or prayed for this program to start up.

We will always take more volunteers, if you would like to volunteer please contact me, Logan Dawes, at either my cell or email: 620-654-7193 or logan.dawes.18@gmail.com

Items we need:

jam or jelly other than grape, canned chicken, vienna sausages, tuna, Ritz crackers, canned fruits, oatmeal, PopTarts

SPROUT HOUSE

Sprout House continues to be part of our ministry here at Messiah! Sally Johnson continues with infant care in the eastern portion of our building. Some of our parishioners worked on the ceiling and ventilation system above the childcare area. We are deeply grateful for their work! As well, the after school program is seeking to return to our basement after about a year's hiatus. The USD400 is not allowing any outside programming in their building (girl scouts, boy scouts, etc.) so the Sprout House after school program needs a home. In the last year there was a change in the fire inspector position and the new inspector interprets the laws a bit differently than the previous inspector so the program is awaiting a final determination about the usefulness and safety of our space. Meanwhile, Mike Dreier and Pastor Amy have been in conversation about the need for Covid safety measures should the program return to Messiah. We are looking forward to the inspector's determination and the ability for Messiah to support this program once again!

Hello from the Mini Miracles Sprouthouse! Fall is upon us now so our classroom is decorated with tiny pumpkins and colorful leaves. We currently are caring for five kiddos and are excited that two more will be joining us in a few short weeks. There is nothing better than a room full of smiling faces. Please feel free to stop by and say hello! Thank you again for allowing us to be housed in your church!

MESSIAH CHURCH WOMEN

Messiah Church Women will meet Wednesday, October 28 at 7:00 PM in the church Fellowship Hall, with masks and social distancing. Flo Peterson will lead the Bible Study with Carolyn Brock hosting. If you feel comfortable attending please join us! All women are welcome.

We will be taking 10-15 Lutheran World Relief School Kits, along with Carolyn Brock's quilts, to Salina on October 8. Thank you to all who contributed to these kits, and to Carolyn for making the school bags. We know they will help to meet a great need in our country, and in the world.

Also, a big thank you to Marla Elmquist for spearheading the women's monthly newsletter--it has been and will continue to be a blessing to stay connected in this way.
